28 March 2025

Collecting Your Information

Mindful Margaret River is committed to ensuring that any participant information provided to us is only used for the purposes for which it is collected – to provide participants with the most appropriate services and care. We will only collect participant personal information where it is reasonably necessary for the functioning of our program, or more importantly, for participant safety.

As an Australian-based program, any data and information collected is held, used and disclosed in accordance with Schedule 1 of the Privacy Act 1988 and other relevant Australian and state laws in relation to the management of personal information. The Privacy Act allows for participants to identify themselves by way of a pseudonym, however, an exception to this is where it would be deemed reasonably impractical for Mindful Margaret River to deal with an unidentified participant. This is commonly the case, especially if we feel that an individual is at risk of harm or danger.

Use and Disclosure of Your Information

During participation in our Mindful Margaret River services we may collect, hold and disclose your personal information in line with the Privacy Act 1988. This can include but is not restricted to name, address, emergency contact details, age etc. Participants personal information may be entered into our database and will only be used for program purposes. Primarily for:

- Program participant identification.
- Ensuring that participants receive the correct support,
- The management and handling of participant confidential information and
- The safety of the participant.
- Preventing or reducing a serious and imminent threat to somebody's life or health.

Participant information will be obtained, used or disclosed only for the purposes listed above, except as authorised under the Privacy Act, required by law or authorised by participant consent.
